

Help Your Child Find Their Future

Proactive Postsecondary Admissions Program — Opt-In Form

A new state law, known as the My Kentucky Future Act, now allows Kentucky high schools to share student information — such as grades and test scores — with Kentucky's public colleges and universities. This means these schools can reach out to students to let them know if they qualify for admission.

Two types of data will be shared. First, student directory information, which may include student's name, address, enrolled school district, grade level, phone number, date of birth and school email address, as consistent with the district's annual FERPA directory notification. This information will be shared for any student that hasn't been opted out of directory information sharing and students that are opt-ins for the Proactive Postsecondary Admissions Program.

Each year, schools must invite every high school student to join the Proactive Postsecondary Admissions Program. If a parent or guardian (or a student who is 18+) says yes, they are agreeing to share directory information and the following additional information with Kentucky's public universities and Kentucky Community & Technical College System schools:

What Information Is Shared

If a parent/guardian (or a student 18 or older) says yes, they are agreeing to share:

1

Overall GPA

The student's cumulative unweighted grade point average.

2

Test Scores

The student's best known score on a college readiness test, like the ACT or SAT.

3

Participation in Governor's Programs

Whether the student graduated from a Governor's Scholars, Governor's School for the Arts, or Governor's School for Entrepreneurs program.

4

Graduation Date

The student's graduation date (if applicable).

5

Communication Method

The student's preference to receive mail, email, or other forms of communication.

Schools will start sharing this information at the end of a student's 9th grade year.

They will keep sharing it every year after that, for as long as the student stays enrolled in high school or until they or their parents opt them out of the program.

Privacy Notice: Federal law protects student education records. Contact information (such as name and address) may be shared without consent unless a parent or eligible student has opted out of information sharing. Consent to participate in the Proactive Postsecondary Admissions Program authorizes the sharing of the directory and non-directory information described above for this program. Parents, legal guardians, or eligible students age 18 or older must provide written consent before non-directory information may be shared. The decision to opt in or opt out of participation can be changed at any time by completing a new form within Infinite Campus.
